Confederate Ideas. Senator Sterman, in his speech at Springfield, Iii., said the Democratic party was controlled by confederate ideas. Senator Sherman is not the first man who said that. A man who has been prominently spoken of as the Democratic candidate for President -who has served as a Democrat both in the Senate and the House of Representativesex-Senator Eston, of Connectiont, in a speech delivered on the 1st of May, 1884, used the following language, which will be found in the Congressional Record for the forty-eighth Congress, first session, page 3671. Mr. Eaton said:

But I wish to read a provision from another

Figure a feet or acting under it:

Sec. 3. Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts, and excises for revenue necessary to pay the debts, provide for the common defense, and earry on the government of the confiderate states. [Laughter.]
But no bounty shall be granted from the treastry, nor shall any duty or tax on important from foreign nations be laid to promote or foster any branch of industry. A member. What is the gentleman reading

Mr. Enton. From a book belonging to the library of Congress, called the "Weekly Regis-ter," and I have read what purports to be the eighth section of the constitution of the late so called confederate states; and it seems to m some of our friends are acting under that provide They seem to have forgotten that this is Washing ton, not Montgomery. I speak in all kindness as they know.

So it appears that other men besides Senator Sherman not only think but say, and say where it will go upon the official records of the country, that the Democratic party is controlled by the confederate idea and the worst part of this, for the Damocrats, is that Senator Eaton proved what he said by quoting from the confederate con-

Every Democratic paper in the south and all the Democratic and Magwamp papers of the north are denouncing Senator Sher man as "waving the bloody shirt" in hi speech at Springfield when he talked of the Democrats being rule 1 by confederate bloas. What do they have to say about the Demo cratic congressman who said the same thing on the floor of the House?

It seems, therefore, that the confederate idea as expressed in the Montgomery conon in remand to the adjustment of customs dues, is in direct conflict with the ideas and policy expressed in the federal constitution—the fundamental law of the federal Union, Senator Sperman complimented the confederates to the extent that he gave them credit for ideas. He antagonized them, however, and classified themone as the Union idea and the other as the confederate idea-so that the people could Lot be misled, and charged the Democratic party with endeavoring to engraft these confederate ideas of the confederate constitution into the federal statutes. Senator Eaton and Senator Sherman simply de clared their opposition to what they considered unsound ideas, properly called confederate ideas. For doing this the Demo-cratic press is seized with a spasm of hydrophobia toward John Sherman, and charges him witn "waving the bloody shirt," when the gist of his offense is that he favors protection and is opposed to free trade, and expressed himself in an original and power ful manner-in such a way that the people will understand it when they come to pass upon the question in 1888. The idea denominated the confederate idea was not the judgment of all the people of the south, but only of the Democratic part of it, who then and now deminated the south and the Democratic party.

Infamous Doctrines.

We need and must have more party disci-pline. This discipline must and shall be im-proved until men can feel the weight of it. Men who come among us asking and receiving the help of men of substance in their busi-ness enterprises and yet voting against their interests must be treated as public enemie ...

We extract the above from a leading Democratic paper in North Carolina. The meaning of these words cannot be misunderstood. Men who settle in North Carolina, no matter what business enterprises they propose and engage in, must vote the Democratic ticket or be treated as public enemies.

No other construction can be placed upon this language. Party discipline must be brought to bear to such an extent that all will be forced to this or driven from the country. The Democracy of North Carolina must see the handwriting upon the wall as plainly as it appeared to Beishazzar in his drunken feast before their paper will publicly announce such infamous scutiments as these-men must be treated as public enemies because they dare to express their opinions. That is what this language means if it means anything, for these are the concluding words of a long editorial in which the editor declares that it is the only way by which the state can be kept Demo

Such sentiments expressed by a Demo-cratic paper like the Herald are simply damnable and barbarous, and it is probable that they result from a condition of affairs such as is shown to exist by the following extract from the Index Appeal, one of the ablest and fairest Democratic newspapers in Virginia: Politics in North Carolina appear to be a sixes and sevens, judging from the advices of the naval academy, to curse complished Raleigh correspondent. The bership of the board.

Democratic party seems to be in a parlous tate. Local dissensions have caused divisions in the ranks; duliness in business has engonlered spathy, and by adroit management the terushicans have brought about an affila-ien with the labor element which has given hat party victory in localities in which such a ing was not even dreamed of an among the

RAILWAY NOTES

The Oxford and Kansas Railroad Company has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state of Nebraska, Protection or Free Trade. The Courier-Journal may be accepted as Democratic authority, and it says: "The President stands with Mr. Carlisle, Mr. Morrison, and other revenue reformers. He did all he could to carry the Morrison bill in the last Congress, and will do all he can to secure revenue reform in the next. It is a matter of record that Mr. Mansing, who was really the principal adviser of President Cleveland, was decidedly in favor of free trade, though, like other Demcrats, he concealed his real meaning under the euphemism of revenue reform.

The people of the country must under stand very distinctly that Democracy means free trade. Whether the Democrats in their next national convention will boldly avow the doctrine, that is what they intend, It is the question for the people of the United States, more especially the working-men, to determine for themselves whether they are willing to support a party, to help a party into power, whose doctrines if carried into effect would place them as to wages upon a level with European wageworkers The Republican party has always declared, and its acts have been in consonance with its declarations, that the American workingman should be protected in his labor.

Tun public debt reduction for the month of May is stated at $8,838,997, and for the eleven months of the fiscal year at $92,854,-921. Cash in treasury available for debt reduction, $277,308,907. Net cash balance on hand, $23,951,692. The treasury ne gold fund has risen to $186,667,773; net ilver, $73,157,590; net United States notes, $21,767,376. Deposits in national bank depositaries, $22,802,573. The addition of nearly twenty millions of called bonds not matured to the statement of liabilities reluces the treasurer's balance of assets ove liabilities, or treasury surplus, to $51,160, 000, or $10,000,000 below the surplus of May 1. The government revenues for the month were $33,534,283, of which $16,545,-683 was from customs. The total revenue for the eleven months of the fiscal year are $238,309,909, or $35,000,000 greater than for the corresponding period of the preceding year. The expenditures during May were $22,409,348,and for the eleven months of the fiscal year were $253,556,302, or $30,000,000 more than for the corresponding period of the preceding year. The outstanding cir-culation of national bank notes decreased during the month by $2,640,144, and during

THE national debt of Great Britain was $3,711,261,470 in 1886, and its population about 35,000,000. Ours is considerably less than one-third, while our population is nearly double. Great Britain has to raise more than a hundred millions by national taxation in excess of the United States, no part of which goes to the reduction of its great debt, while in our case a hundred millions annually goes to the payment of our debt. Relatively speaking the burdens of taxation are four times as great in Great Britain as in the United States, and this disproportion will increase more rapidly in the future.

the eleven months by $29,409,068.

THE internal revenue collections at Danville for the month of May amounted to $49,154.89. Of this amount the tabacco tax was $37,988.58; the eigarette and eigar tax, $150; liquor tax, $4,944.60; special taxes, $5,896.15; all other sources, $666.55. Tais does not include reports from the stamp deputies at Martinsville, Abingdon, and Roancke, which will probably amount to $5,000 more. Most of this amount is an unjust and unnecessary burden upon one of the chief agricultural productions of the state, and is taken from the people to help swell the surplus in the national treasury.

Henry $\beta$. The road is now leased and used by the Pennsylvania, and I do not think it likely that their use of it will be interferred with, but I presume that the amicable relations between us and them will be maintained. The Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton road does a large carrying business, and we need an outlet to the west, and we have the shortest route from Indianapolis to St. Louis." Mr. I ves sketched the line over the Dayton and Fronton. Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, and Baitlmore and Ohio extensions from Parkersburg, W. Va., to Liberty, Ind., mentioned in Wednesday night's dispatches. "Connection with the Ballimore and Ohio," said he, "will be of great advantage to the system, giving the shoriest trunk line from St. Louis to pide water." Mr. I yes declined to say what price had been paid for the Vandalia, or the terms on which it was bought. He seemed a little surrised at the interest displayed in New York over the Vandalia deal, but appeared thoroughly satisfied with his work and the advantages thereby secured to both the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, and the Baltimore and Ohio system.

Some of the lena are likely to astonish the lovers of exotics as to the price they will bring, especially in the winter, when great care and patience is required to cultivate and mature buds into biossoms. Miss Lena bill starts off with five corsage B's jacques, $50, or $13 for each. Further on is one center plece for $50.
